Spent most of morning in Brit. Embassy, seeing Gorlier and Nichols on sardnie pemission.

Afternoon uneventful

Evening to British Cinema to see "MAN I MARRIED", rather Ham show about a man who slowly turns Nazi and doesn't realize the hate developing within him until he discovers that he himself is a Jew. Good news reels.

Woke early, studied Portuguese. Consulted with Hansen for about an hour on procedure for further shipments if permissions possible. Little Old Lady humped herself in, anted news from France; Eveline Blumberg came in, calmed her nerves, gave usual.

Afternoon, consulted Linthecome on Kabos case....facing dilemma...to go to Paraguay now that he has his papers for there or wait for U.S. visa. Heaven help me if I'm wrong, but I'm advising him to go to Paraguay. He's a forester by profession, and should find places of usefulness there.

Visited with Conard and Hansen, to discuss shipping procedrues.
