

93, rue Coli,

Casablanca, 8th December 1942.

Mr. WIGGINS,
U.S. Consulate Annex.
CASABLANCA.

Dear Mr. Wiggins,

This note is presented by the bearer one Messad Benrimo, who claims to be a British subject, and has papers with him that to me look impressive.

I asked Mr. Mayer about this man, and he suggested that I send him to you, who would look into the matter. Copy of Mr. Mayer's letter to me is attached.

Mr. Benrimo told me he wanted to enlist either in the British or American Armies.

Apparently the French Authorities released him from the Camp of Berguent on the arrival of the Americans, believing themselves that he was a British subject.

Yours very truly,

Leslie O. Heath.
